JAPAN'S DEMANDS ARE JUST

Excited as though a bomb had fallen under the peace table in Paris came the news of Japan's demand for racial equality as a requisite to a successful satisfactory agreement on their part to the plans of the League of Nations.

The attitude of the European nations on this question, we are not in a position to present to state, but if the press of America can be relied upon as an expression of the sentiment of the American people, Japan's demands will be vigorously opposed. The news and editorial writers of the great metropolitan dailies seem to have discovered the time-worn nightmare "Social Equality" in Japan's demand, and are devoting much space to throw all the strength of America's racial prejudice into the conference that Japan's demand may be denied.

Japan's demands, to our mind, are reasonable and just. They only call for equal and just treatment of the people of their country at the head of the contracting nations.

If the people of America are not ready for a fair and just peace, especially to one of their allies in the recent great war, if holding to racial prejudice is dearer to them than the lives of millions of the best blood of the nation, then why not call President Wilson home and our peace envoys to return, and let the war continue until men's hearts change.

The very fact that some members of the Council are willing to form a League with their fellow envoys, and at the same time not willing to give their associates a fair deal, makes a farce of the League of Nations and renders it unworthy of further consideration.

Japan is right. We cannot hope for abiding peace so long as racial discrimination and racial prejudice are acknowledged barriers for denying any man a fair deal.

In as much as Japan is "not too proud to fight," and they have the men and munitions to back up their demands, they cannot reasonably accept anything less.

THE BLACK ONLY SKIN DEEP

An Editorial in the NORTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of March 5, 1919.

The "black devil" came home week before last and Chicago turned out en masse to welcome them. The "devil" were the city's colored regiment—the Eighth—who saw enough service to lose ninety-five men killed and over four hundred wounded. The "black devils" never quailed. They never took a prisoner. They fought with a rush and when they came back home the downtown streets were lined with hundreds of thousands, white and black, to see them march by. It was a splendid sight. Behind each company surged the mothers, sisters and sisters of 1919. In perfect marching order, they swung along, helmeted and wearing every sign of soldiership; and as we watched them we thought: Here is a people whose grand parents were slaves, whose parents are to this day deprived of certain blessings of American citizenship, and who themselves had begun to feel the handicap of race. They are returning from Chateau Thierry and Belleau Woods, where they gave themselves in the finest demonstration of American citizenship. They forgave all. They forgot all. They were Americans, and the shout that accompanied their regular tread told that Chicago was proud to own them as fellow Americans. Would that their line of march could have taken them through every great city of the country! Would that their sections of the country where the Negro is despised and deprived of the common blessings of citizenship could have been honored for it would have been an honor by having this fighting Eighth swing down their streets in military order! And to think that this regiment, in but one of scores who fought as the Americans to preserve the liberties which to a no inconsiderable extent had been denied them. Really, there is a glimpse of character just here that has rarely been duplicated in the field of patriotism.

Remorse of conscience landed one of the jurors who convicted Dr. Leroy N. Bundy in the insane Asylum.
We are sure that the remaining eleven should have the soundness of their judgment passed upon, for a prejudiced mind is incapable of giving a fair and just decision.

Getting together in the League of Nations reminds us of chasing the rainbow.

Clean up, bright up or dress up. Anything to show that you realize that spring is here.

The Republican Party of this city and State lost one of their best organizers in the death of the late Gus Frey.

Some of the Negro political workers are strong in their condemnation of John W. Shine, Constable of the 3rd District for his failure to keep his pre-election promise. Remember that there are other so-called good Republicans who are holding office in St. Louis that should not be overlooked.

Any country that grants aliens and enemy aliens rights and privileges that are denied their most loyal citizens needs a few strong common sense statesmen.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad remembrance of our dear husband, son and brother, Theodore Washington, who departed this life two years ago, April 7, 1917. Years of silence often flow. For the memory keeps you near as though you died two years ago. And sudden was the call. For our dear one loved by all. We little thought on that day. Our dear one would be called away. We could not realize what was said. When the message came that he was dead. Day by day sadly comes his friends. Prayers may think the wound is healed. But they know the grief. That's within our hearts concealed. He'll never be forgotten. Never from our memory dead. Loving hearts will always linger. Around the grave where he is laid. In loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, Chas. Bushby, who died on this life two years ago, April 11, 1917. With aching hearts we yearned for you. Both night and day. In the deep winter shadows. We see your face in the misty air. And you seem so near at times my dear. And you gladden our saddened hearts. Each night we pray our Father above. We ask to join you there. We only wish that He grants this prayer. Sadly missed by wife and daughter: Partholus Bushby and Alberta Bushby.
